

A Diffuse Rash in a Patient After Allogeneic Hematopoietic Stem Cell Transplant for AML

Asmaa Ferdjallah¹, Christina Boull¹, Heather Stefanski¹, and Christen Ebens¹

¹University of Minnesota

July 1, 2020

Abstract

Patients who undergo hematopoietic stem cell transplantation may present with a variety of dermatologic complications. Clinicians must be careful to maintain a broad differential and seek a biopsy proven diagnosis as soon as possible when there is ambiguity as to cause.

Hosted file

ClinicalCaseReports.doc available at <https://authorea.com/users/338847/articles/465238-a-diffuse-rash-in-a-patient-after-allogeneic-hematopoietic-stem-cell-transplant-for-aml>

