

PENETRATING TRAUMA OF BRACHIOCEPHALIC ARTERY LESION WITH EMBOLIZATION OF FOREIGN BODY TO RIGHT AXILLARY ARTERY IN PEDIATRIC PATIENT: CASE PRESENTATION AND HIS MANAGEMENT.

Luis Zerpa Acosta¹, Jameel Al Ata¹, Alfredo Sanchez Gamboa¹, Elmahi Babikir¹, Abdullah Al Zahrani¹, Francis Emperador¹, and Ali Haneef¹

¹King Abdulaziz Medical City - Jeddah

November 21, 2020

Abstract

ABSTRACT: BACKGROUND: Penetrating injuries of the intrathoracic great vessels are well recognized although uncommon in pediatric patients, management in pediatric patients presents challenges. Surgical repair by median sternotomy is the exposure of choice for accessing innominate artery injuries, but endovascular intervention in being increasingly introduced in the hemodynamically stable

Hosted file

PENETRATING TRAUMA OF BRACHIOCEPHALIC ARTERY LESION WITH EMBOLIZATION OF FOREIGN BODY TO RIGHT AXILLARY artery-in-pediatric-patient-case-presentation-and-his-management available at <https://authorea.com/users/360908/articles/494248-penetrating-trauma-of-brachiocephalic-artery-lesion-with-embolization-of-foreign-body-to-right-axillary-artery-in-pediatric-patient-case-presentation-and-his-management>

